

Blackjack

How to play:

The object of Blackjack or "21" is to beat the total of the Dealer's hand without going over 21.

The game begins with Player's placing bets based on the table limits. After bets are placed, each Player is dealt two cards by the Dealer. The Dealer also receives two cards with one card exposed to the Players. Players are then given the option of drawing additional cards in order to beat the Dealer's hand.

All the face cards count as 10. All other card count as face value except Aces, which can count as 1 or 11.

After all Player's have completed their hands, the Dealer will then expose the "Hole" card and then stand or draw until a total of 17 or higher is reached. The Dealer must stand on 17.

If the value of the Dealer's cards exceeds 21, the Dealer "busts" and all players with card values of 21 or below win.

When a Player's first two cards are an Ace and any 10 value card, it is called a "Blackjack." A Player's "Blackjack" is paid at odds of 3 to 2 unless the Dealer also has a "Blackjack," in which case a tie or "push" is called and neither wins. When a Dealer has "Blackjack" all bets are lost unless the Player also has a tie or the Player has insurance.

Insurance

A Player may take insurance if the Dealer's "Up" card is an Ace. You are betting that the Dealer has a "Blackjack." You may wager up to 1/2 of your original bet. If the Dealer has "Blackjack," you lose the original bet and the insurance bet is paid 2 to 1. If the Dealer does not have "Blackjack," the insurance bet loses.

Splitting Pairs

If a Player's first two cards are a pair, the Player can split the pair and play the two cards as separate hands by placing another bet of equal value on the table. A player can split up to three times for a total of four separate hands. Aces can be split only once and the player gets only one card on each hand. A ten-value card on split Aces will count as 21 but not "Blackjack."

Doubling Down

A Player can double a wager and take one additional card by placing an equal bet on the table. Players can double any combination of their first two cards and after splitting pairs.

Dealers are happy to explain the placement of any bets, but the players are responsible for the correct position of their wagers on the layout, regardless of whether they or the dealer have placed the bets.
